

ABSTRACT

A lunch box capable of blast frozen preservation. The lunch box has two compartments, having two containers that are concentric with each other. The lunch box can withstand blast freezing and is microwave compatible keeping two separate food components separate from each other. The lunch box is space saving and easily portable. One side dish container fits within the other main dish container.